Time for a Challenge

2026 entered with the explosion of fireworks across the world as people partied to welcome the new year. Many people will make a News Year's resolution or two, and many will not be kept for very long. Do you make any new year's resolutions? Are they a challenge? Do we ever challenge ourselves to become more like God, to do more for His kingdom and determine to speak to our family, neighbours and colleagues about Him?

Are we too frightened or embarrassed about what others might say or how they will react? Would we rather keep our friends in this world rather than work for His Kingdom? Do we admit defeat and say, I do not know how to? Or come off it God, do you really understand what this will do to me?

God understands and has given us the resources to complete the challenge if we wish to. Think of it this way – 5 steps to deliver the good news of the Gospel God created the world, Man has damaged it and the relationship with God, God sent His Son to repair the damage, then what is the result if God is ignored and What is the result if god is accepted? Training over!

Oswald Chambers writes "My determined purpose is to be my utmost for His highest – my best for His glory." Are you ready to take this challenge and focus on God and do your utmost for his glory in 2026?

Four Seasons and Dying For Sex

Now your attention has been grabbed: read on!

Two for one! In Four Seasons and Dying for Sex
hunt all of life for meaning, critic Giles Gough
dissects two dramas that intertwine mortality, desire, and the search for meaning. The review highlights their cyclical structure that mirror human longing, while also questioning whether art can truly capture the fullness of life's seasons.
